Library Journal's - 2017 Design Institute

June 2017

We surveyed attendees at the Library Journal's - 2017 Design Institute and asked three questions focusing on community libraries and the current trends, services, and collections they provide. Here's what we learned.

How much of your collection would you like to see on the shelves?

Attendees strongly preferred small to medium displayed collections as opposed to larger displayed collections.

What is your favorite trend in library design?

We found that the most favored trend in library design is sustainable features, with early childhood programs coming in a close second!

Which library services are most desirable for your community?

Top three desired services:

- + Collaboration Spaces
- + Technical Support
- + Children's Services
